SATURDAY, MAY 21, 1859.

☞ The Bardstown Gazette perpetrates the following most barefaced and ridiculous perversion of Mr. Magoffin's position on the slavery question:

Mr. Magoffin's position, as enunciated here, was as plain and intelligible as any one could desire. Many effect not to understand it, but there's no one who believes that will not see." Mr. Magoffin acknowledged the power of Congress to protect slavery. He also declared it the duty of Congress to protect slavery, should this protection become necessary. But he deprecated the agitation of slavery in the halls of Congress, if it could possibly be avoided, knowing the incalculable evils that might result from it. He was for seeking redress against encroachment in every legitimate way in every Constitutional way before applying to Congress, but he did not declare in favor of non-intervention under any and all circumstances.

This is a perversion, because it represents Mr. Magoffin as saying what he really never said; it is barefaced, for it does this in the teeth of the testimony not only of every man who heard Mr Magoffin fully at Bardstown but of every one who has heard him fully anywhere else in the canvass; it is ridiculous, since it makes Mr. Magoffin occupy Mr. Bell's position on a question in relation to which Mr. B. has been loshing Mr. M. most unmercifully ever since the canvass began and is still lashing him without the smallest abatement of vigor or vehemence.

What, in the name of common sense and common decency, is the object of so absurd and contemptible a misrepresentation? Do the men who publish it and the men who republish it imagine for an instant than anybody with a thimbleful of brains can be induced to credit it? Do they actually fancy that there are Democrats in Kentucky so densely stupid or so lotonely stupefied as to believe, in spite not only of their own ears and of the ears of all the rest of the community but of the fierce and unceasing contests waging between Bell and Magoffin on this very point, that Magoffin, after all, holds the selfsame position that Bell does? Do they indeed rate Democratic sense and intelligence at this miserably low figure? Do they deem the masses of their party a set of unmitigated dolts and simpletons? If they don't, why do they utter and attempt to give currency to a statement which they must know that none but dolts and simpletons can believe? The falsity of these gracious prevaricators is altogether inexplicable.

Mr. Magoffin's position on the question of slavery in the Territories, we reiterate deliberately, is that of UNQUALIFIED NON-INTERVENTION. He took this position at Lebanon, he has maintained it ever since, and he holds it now. With respect to the legal and ethical points involved Mr. Magoffin has perhaps vacillated somewhat since his opening speech, but to the salient practical point of non-intervention itself he has firmly adhered and still firmly adheres. He abides by simple non-intervention. He stands squarely upon that platform. In fact, Mr. Magoffin repudiates squatter sovereignty in theory, indeed, he declares for it in practice, without qualification or restraint. Others is, as we have already intimated, the canvass between him and Mr. Bell on this point is perfectly nonsensical. Mr. Bell asserts distinctly the policy of intervention for protection when necessary; if Mr. Magoffin doesn't assert the policy of non-intervention, there is of course no difference between the two, and they are daily belaboring each other for nothing, or for the fun of the thing. As this is a practical absurdity which the common sense of the people rejects at once it follows inevitably that Mr. Magoffin does assert the policy of non-intervention. Reason confirms what testimony establishes.

To be sure he asserts it. Of course he does. And every man in the State or out of it who has heard him on the question knows it. The very men who insinuate the contrary know it. None know it better. It is the palpable truth. To deny it is a gross affront to every sense and faculty of the human mind. It is an insult to the public reason. It is a piece of insolent and desperate silliness.

☞ The Columbia Sentinel contains a letter from Hon. William W. Boyce, Representative from the Sixth Congressional District of South Carolina, declining his position on certain points, in answer to the request of a correspondent of that paper. The letter of Mr. Boyce is dated Saline Farm, May 11, and says:

I utterly repudiate Judge Douglas's idea that a Territorial Legislature may discriminate against slavery, and nothing could induce me to support for the Presidency any one standing on the platform.

I consider it no minor nor a sectional problem, that the South have a right to be protected with their slave property in the Territories, and that Congress, or their instruments, the Territorial Legislatures, should afford this protection. As a question of practical action, I would not at this time, be willing to go beyond the platform I have raised, as a Southern Representative, I shall demand the fulfillment of every right.

This is a true exposition of Southern sentiment and the position of the South; and no one can doubt it without being recreant to the constitutional rights of slaveholders. Under the compromise action of 1850, the conservative voice of the country agreed to let the subject of slavery rest without Congressional action, either to establish or prohibit; but when the Dred Scott case brought up a new issue—the right to have slave property protected in the Territories—the question was naturally referred to the Supreme Court, and under its decision, if the power of the Judiciary under the constitution is not the supreme tribunal to the ear to be broken to the hope, Mr. Boyce is right when he says "it is as clear as a mathematical problem that the South have a right to be protected with their slave property in the Territories, and that Congress, or their instruments, the Territorial Legislatures, should afford this protection." He is right also in saying that though the raising of this issue may have been of doubtful practical advantage, still, as it has been originated, every Southern man should demand the fullest measure of our rights. Mr. Boyce does not disguise the gloomy appearance of the future, and says:

We are threatened with the greatest possible calamity—the destruction of the Government and the paralysis of a disunited South. We shall need all wisdom and moderation to avert the disasters which threaten us, and yet how marked is the absence of these great qualities on the part of many who aspire to direct public opinion at the South.

The warning comes to Kentucky at a most opportune moment. Here, the Democratic candidates for the office of Governor and most of the party candidates for Congress and the Legislature are working to aid the "domination of an imperious North" and assisting to paralyze and dismite the South. Mr. Boyce fears that "the North nectionalized will soon take possession of the Government," while the Democracy of Kentucky are aiding the movements of Douglas to ingraft the worst anti-slavery heresies upon the creed of their party. Southern politicians and Southern statesmen, however much they have differed upon other issues, have always been united in sentiment upon the rights of their section in slave property. Now we see the insidious effort made to bring the odious doctrines which involve a base surrender of those rights into the Southern States, and claim that they are orthodox Democracy. Was there ever a deception so transparent or a delusement more craven?

☞ The editor of the Democrat assures us with considerable particularity and not a little feeling that he advocated squatter-sovereignty in 1856 just as distinctly as he advocates it now. We cheerfully accept the correction. Our impression was that our neighbor had not advocated squatter-sovereignty in direct and positive terms until within the last year; but we believe he is right. He has no doubt advocated it from the days of the Nicholson letter. We beg our neighbor's pardon. We shall never again undertake to assign a limit to his political heresies.

☞ The Virginia election for Governor, Congressmen, and Legislature takes place on Thursday next. Mr. Letcher, the Democratic gubernatorial candidate, who is still confined at home by illness, has issued an address to the people of the State. Mr. Goggin, his opponent, is daily on the "stump," and is met, on behalf of Mr. Letcher, by Mr. Montague, the Democratic nominee for Lieut. Governor. We have great hopes that Mr. Goggin will scotch the snake, Democracy, if he does not kill it.

☞ The Louisville Courier taunts the editor of the Democrat with having belonged only a short time to the Democratic party. There's truth in the taunt. The Democrat man has indeed been with the Democracy only a short time—only fifteen years—only a little more than four times as long as the Courier-man.

☞ The Southern Convention of last year endorsed disunion and filibusterism. That of the present year has endorsed disunion, filibusterism, and piracy. We wonder what that of next year will do. We much fear that its ingenuity will be sadly taxed.

☞ Wm. B. Bishop, a defeated ex-Congressman of Connecticut, has been appointed commissioner of patents. Whom the people put down, Mr. Buchanan puts up, but we wonder who will put him up when the people shall put him down.

☞ The Democrat advises us to hold our breath altogether. We mean to hold it. It's our own, and we expect to hold our own.

☞ Lan Boyd's organ advises the Opposition not to lay its hand on him. No doubt it will prefer setting its feet on him.

☞ It will be seen from the report in another column of the Opposition Convention held at Warsaw on the 16th inst. that our political friends in the State Senatorial District composed of the counties of Boone, Carroll, and Gallatin have presented Judge Yousell as their candidate for the Senatorship. The nomination is a most excellent one. Judge Y. is a man of acute and sound judgment, of extensive intelligence, and a very keen and forcible debater. He will uphold the banner of the Opposition in his District with credit and success.

The Convention at Warsaw, we notice, recommended the second Monday in June as the most suitable time for the assembling of the Congressional Convention at Covington. The Congressional Convention in our judgment ought not to be put off a day later. Much depends on judicious action in this respect.

We believe that the Tenth District can be redeemed. And, if it can be, it certainly should be. No honorable effort ought to be wanting to achieve its redemption. And unquestionably the first step in this direction is the timely selection of an energetic, ardent, popular, and eloquent leader. The ranks of the Opposition of the District contain many such. Let the standard of the party be placed nasonably in the hands of one of them. We have nothing to lose but everything to gain from a protracted and thorough canvass.

☞ Let a full canvass under an active and inspiring leader be had, and, our word for it, the result will show that Col. Stevenson is not at all invincible on the stump or at the ballot-box. Even with our limited acquaintance in the District we think we could mention several men of the Opposition who would prove more than a match for him in either arena. Col. S. is undoubtedly a most excellent gentleman, and a very able man; but, in our opinion, politics is not his proper sphere, and, if it were, the stump is not his true field. There are elements in the pending canvass, palpable to all, which, we are entirely persuaded, must lead to the Opposition candidate in the Tenth District, if he be an effective and kindling popular speaker, as he ought to be, a power which nothing in Col. Stevenson or his cause or in both together can successfully resist before the people.

Gentlemen of the Opposition in the Tenth Congressional District! bring out your strongest, truest, and most electrifying man at the earliest suitable moment. A glorious victory is not beyond your reach.

The events of the last six or eight months have proved that there are several coteries of politicians who are engaged in efforts to bring particular men prominently forward as candidates for the Presidency, and there is the most abundant reason to believe that they are actuated in their final schemes by motives equally corrupt.

Philadelphia Evening Journal.

This is a very sweeping and comprehensive charge, and our staid cotemporary of the Quaker City will, of course, desire to be exempted from its operations. Within the period to which it refers an article appeared in the Evening Journal, giving in its adhesion to the Hon. James Guthrie as a candidate for the Presidency, and as the professed mouthpiece of the Journal and on the matter prominence the motives of the editor were much canvassed. While we absolve him from the category into which he has placed others, we think that one coterie has as much right to give prominence to its favorite as another. There being glass houses in Philadelphia from which newspapers emanate, the Journal engages in a risky business when it commences to throw such big stones regardless of the heads upon which they fell.

☞ The Douglas Democrats and the Buchanan Democrats of Pennsylvania are making the hair fly. The Harrisburg Sentinel, the central organ of the Douglas Democracy of the State, says of Mr. Buchanan:

He is a violator of pledges, an unwise, unsafe, and corrupt Executive, a pro-slavery disunionist, a pirate in intention, a tyrant, an apostate from Democracy, a wool-dyed Federalist, and a disorganizer.

Mr. Buchanan's Philadelphia organ retorts to this by calling the editor of the Sentinel, Col. Forney, &c.:

Red-mouth abolitionists, corrupt and rotten at the heart, capable of perpetrating the lowest and blackest crimes, who have livad all their lives on plunder, stealing from the Treasury of the Government, and when the hand was caught against their wholesale stealing they turn round and abuse the men and party who gave them life.

Now, that's interesting—isn't it?

☞ The Boston Courier says: "In Shakspeare's play of Measure for Measure, the reader will remember that Abhorson, the executioner, tells Master Barnardine that he must get up and be hanged; a pleasant request which the clown varies by saying to him that he must be so good as to rise and be put to death. Master Barnardine naturally enough declines these courteous propositions. Mr. Joshua R. Giddings tells the Oberlin rescuers that they ought to have got up and hanged 'the slave catchers,' and that had they done so there would have been no more trouble with this class of miscreants. But they seem deaf to the voice of the charmer, and four of them, in the most ignominious manner, have pleaded guilty to their indictments, paid their fines, and gone home."

☞ The Richmond Enquirer, in a late issue, affirms that "the questions that have grown out of the slavery agitation present the only living issues of the day." But the Washington Constitution says "the abstract question of protection to slave property in the Territories by Congress on the one hand, and the power of the people of a Territory to adopt unfriendly legislation on the other, are not living issues." Which is the broader Democratic faith? Cannot the people of Kentucky see that Buchanan's new Northern editor of his organ is preparing to sell the South in advance of the Charleston convention? And can they not see that Magoffin and most of the Democratic press are aiding to the political swindle.

☞ A correspondent of the Louisville Democrat, deprecating the strife between the squatter sovereign and the anti-squatter sovereign Democracy of the State, says:

Then, gentlemen, why not first elect him (Magoffin) by a large majority, and then cut each other's throats.

Perhaps we haven't a right to advise, but we think they had better reverse the order of the two operations.

Hon. Thomas H. Holt has been nominated for Congress by the Democracy of the Seventh district, Kentucky. In accepting the nomination he maintained the right of the South to take her property to the Territories under the Dred Scott decision, declared that he was opposed to the interference of Congress, either to establish, prohibit, or protect slave property.—Enquirer.

This is known to be strictly true by all who heard Col. Holt's speech at Lagrange. Couries! what have you to say? Can a politician, holding and proclaiming the sentiments of Col. H., have such a thing as "a political future?"

☞ Our friend of the Madison Courier comments upon what he calls our wit. We may comment upon his if we ever get a chance to see it.

HON. F. M. BRISTOW.—We have already announced the nomination of this gentleman as the Opposition candidate for Congress in the Third District. The Bowling Green Gazette says of Mr. B:

The Opposition convention which assembled at this place last Monday unanimously nominated Hon. F. M. Bristow, of Todd county, as their standard-bearer in the canvass for Congress in this district. There were other gentlemen in nomination in the convention whose characters qualify them for any position to which they might aspire; but the contention in its wisdom selected Mr. Bristow, who is acknowledged by all to be a man of sterling integrity, ability, and patriotism. He may be called a solid man, of unblemished character, a scholar, an erudite lawyer, and an honest, conscientious politician.

A more satisfactory nomination could not have been made. He is well known to the people of the District, and wherever he is known he bears the character we have given him. He has some Congressional experience, having served the unexpired term of the late Hon. P. Ewing, and if elected again will soon indelibly impress his colleagues in Congress with his excellent character. He is a man for the times, and a man for the people who want sterling good qualities of head and heart. We have yet to hear a single utterance of anything but perfect satisfaction with the result. Let it not superevogation to call on the people to rally around the standard of such a man as Frank Bristow!

To the Editors of the Louisville Journal:

WARSAW, KY., May 16, 1859.

GENTLEMEN: A spirited Opposition meeting was held in Warsaw, Gallatin county, on the 16th inst., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the Senatorial district composed of the counties of Boone, Carroll, and Gallatin.

Col. Merrick, of Boone, was called to the chair.

On motion, the resolutions of 22d February, 1859, at Louisville, were unanimously adopted, with an additional resolution, to-wit:

That the Territories being the common property of the confederation of the United States, each and every citizen of the several States has the right of protection of slaves as well as any property recognized by the constitution of the United States, and that no Territorial legislation can affect the relation of master and slave, and that it is the duty of Congress to protect this right.

[Correspondence of the New York Times.]

THE WAR MOVEMENT.

PARIS, May 2, 1859.

After a three days' inexplicable delay, the Austrian army has crossed the line into Piedmont, and the war has therefore commenced. The three days' grace allowed to Piedmont by the Austrian ultimatum expired on Thursday afternoon last, and it was reasonable to suppose that, since it was all important to arrive before the French, on Tuesday night or Wednesday morning the Austrians would have passed the line. They did not pass it, however, till Friday afternoon, and since they thus lost three most precious days—which gave exactly time enough for the French to break up their camps of observation on their own soil and to throw themselves between the Austrians, and Turin and Alessandria—people are curious to know what mighty influence could have arrested the onward march of he Austrian army.

In England it is attributed to the influence of the Derby Cabinet; in Piedmont to the revolution in Tuscany. Another explanation is that Field Marshal Baron Hess, opposed to the Emperor Francis Joseph's policy of invading Sardinian territory, collected his troops between Pavia and Piacenza and refused to advance, preferring disgrace to a compromise of Austria before Europe. A peremptory order from the young and irritated Emperor sent him across the line with his army. Still another explanation is given, almost too absurd for repetition, that the Piedmontese intended to open the flood gates of the Lago Maggiore in order to inundate the country in the direction of Novara, and thus cut off the retreat of the Austrians.

The movement of troops at Paris continues, but not to the same extent as during last week. A regiment of Zouaves, and 8 light guns started for Marseilles yesterday, with a cane in one hand and his cigar in the other. General Canrobert has left Paris to join his division. In the Crimea, having broken his sword in repulsing a night attack of the Russians, he tore a huge tent-post from its place, and, laying about him with this Cyclopean weapon, strew the ground with enemies.

The 4th corps of the army of Italy, commanded by Count Castelbajac, and which will join the Emperor with General Espirent de la Ville-Boisnet as Chief of Staff, will be composed of two divisions, headed by Generals Vinoy, Niol, de Leyritz, de Failly, O'Farrell, and Sanzin.

The Prince Napoleon, according to the Piedmontese journals, will command a division of their army under the direct orders of the King. It appears to be true, as stated in my last letter, that he was the mortification shown by Gen. Saint Jean d'Angely, and the counsels of friends, which induced the Emperor to change his mind in regard to putting the Prince at the head of the Imperial Guard.

The Italian expedition which was called the Army of the Alps until it entered Italian territory, is called technically the Army of Italy.

The Minister of War has again changed the ordonnance in regard to calling out married soldiers on a forlough. Only those married before they drew in the conscription will be called into service, all others, having married by special permission of the minister, will be allowed to stay with their families.

The price for substitutes remains, as fixed by the Government, two hundred and forty dollars.

All or nearly all the corps d'elite having been ordered to the seat of war, the Paris barracks are only partly filled, and those by rather inferior troops of the line, who seem to have come a long way, and who look somewhat lost at Paris. They are a small, sunburnt, but sinewy, hardy set of fellows, who give one the impression that they are not very bright, they can at least stand a good many hard knocks. Each arm of the Imperial Guard, however, has left a small number of men behind at Paris to serve as depots to fill up the ranks of those who may fall on the field and to train the recruits.

[From the St. Joseph West, May 16.]

MORE UNFAVORABLE NEWS FROM PIKE'S PEAK.—We yesterday morning had a conversation with Mr. Stannus, of Keokuk, Iowa, who was just in from the plains. Mr. Stannus was one of a large party of Pike's Peak emigrants, some eighteen or twenty of whom, he says, prospected in the mines for about eighteen days. He was not at the mines himself, having stopped 100 miles this side to await the result of the examinations made by his friends. The whole party returned, having satisfied themselves that they could make nothing in the mines. The best diggings they had found would average only a fourth of a cent to the pan. In some places the four diggings known as Cherry Creek, Arappahoe, Mexican, and Table Mountain diggings, all of which are about alike. It was thought at first that gold would be found higher up in the mountains, but all who tried were disappointed; the higher up they went the less appearance of gold they found. The whole party unite in condemning the lying as a humbug gotten up by traders and speculators.

In going out, the party met about one hundred emigrants a day returning on foot, nearly all of whom were in destitute circumstances. They all gave the same account in regard to the mines, though the traders along the road still contended that quartz were making from eight to ten dollars a day. One of this company, an Mr. Stannus states, bought up all the gold he could find in Auraria and Denver cities, amounting to $5 43. Ten miles beyond Salt Creek the party uncovered the body of a man who had evidently been murdered, being shot with two balls through the head. It was supposed to be the body of a man from Nebraska City by the name of Carpenter, who was some time ago reported to have been murdered on the Plains with letters on his person giving unfavorable accounts from the mines.

Near by was found the body of his mule, which had also been shot. Mr. Stannus met immense numbers going out—in one day he thinks as many as 500 wagons, with three persons to each.

The above are in substance the statements of Mr. Stannus, who seems to be an intelligent and reliable man, and such is the character given of him by the gentleman who introduced him to us. We lay the statements before our readers, and let them draw their own conclusions.

We understand that the cars on the Nashville and Henderson Railroad are now running to Springfield, 28½ miles from Nashville. Some time this week a daily line of four-horse coaches will commence running from Russellville to Springfield, connecting at the latter point with the trains to and from Nashville. When this connection is made passengers can leave Russellville after breakfast and reach Nashville between 1 and 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

☞See first page for proceedings of the Board of Aldermen.

☞We have further intelligence from Europe to the 11th by the steamer City of Baltimore, which was boarded off Cape Race. The news is incomprehensible. Though four days later there has been no action, and Austria seems in a perfect state of lethargy, losing all the advantages which superiority of numbers and choice of position first gave her. In the meantime breadstuffs and provisions have declined in the Liverpool markets and cotton has quite a rise. These indications seem to point to some presumed mode of pacification, but what that mode is we are left to infer. It is probable however that Austria, becoming alarmed at the revolutionary movements in some of the Italian States, and fearing that this feeling might extends itself, has become alarmed. The Paris correspondent of the New York Commercial, writing under date of the 24, nearly a week preceding our present advices, says:

The French army in five days from the time Austria sent her ultimatum, was numbering nearly 200,000 men, was thrown into Italy at a distance of 600 miles from Paris—a feat for which Austria was not prepared, and which only a few years ago would have been impossible.

Another attempt, it is said, is making by England, Russia, and Prussia, to arrest the progress of hostilities. The contending parties are now asked, not to disarm, but to stop where they are until the Congress can meet.

It will be easy for the two armies to stop where they are, but the Italians themselves, determined upon war, will manage to agitate the street. The revolution in Tuscany and in Parma will be the ground when all others fail to bring about the collision. Austria exercises a protectorate over these Duchies; she has troops and fortresses there, and she is not going to allow those States to go over to Victor Emanuel without a struggle. The fact is, all Italy is in a blaze; the patriotic party of 1848 cannot be kept up their pretensions to liberty, is enough to excite any people that had not the last spark of patriotism crushed out of them, and if the Italians do not now strike a blow for their freedom, they are unworthy the sympathy of which they have long been the subjects.

☞What is Louisville going to do in the way of celebrating the Fourth of July? We certainly ought to have a more vigorous demonstration than has occurred of late years. We do not like to see this apathy growing over the nation in relation to its holidays. When the Declaration of Independence was signed, the old patriot John Adams wrote, in a spirit of prophesy, that the day would be celebrated by bonfires, illuminations, ringing of bells, and every variety of public rejoicing; but as the shadow of that great event lengthens in the dim past, even on the anniversary of its eighty-third occurrence, it becomes necessary for the more patriotic people of the land to their duty and stimulate them to even a decent observance. Let us do something to make the young feel an interest in the day and lead them to study the history of that glorious convocation of patriots who proclaimed Liberty to the people. Let us have a military parade of our volunteer companies, an oration by some prominent citizen, the reading of the Declaration, and a fine display of fireworks at night, while "from the rising of the sun even unto the going down of the same" let the bells from every spire ring out their merry peal. Who will take the initiative in some such movement? We suggest that our worthy Mayor call a public meeting next week, and let us see of what our citizens are made. We want to have Independence Day celebrated, and, if we cannot have a public demonstration, we know two or three who will assemble together in the name of their country, and we feel that the benignant power which has always blessed that country will be in the midst of us.

☞Nearly all the prominent cities of our country have within a year or two past erected elegant structures for dramatic and lyric entertainments, and some weeks since a movement appeared in the Journal discussing the propriety and expediency of erecting a new and commodious theatre in Louisville, which should come up to the requirements of public comfort, and the vast improvements that have recently been devised in the auditoriums of all buildings for the accommodation of popular assemblages. New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Baltimore, Cincinnati, New Orleans, and scores of minor cities have theatres which are as luxurious in their furniture as any private drawing room, in which a play or opera can be enjoyed without an evening's cramping up in irksome seats and constrained positions. Louisville is the only city of its size which has not taken steps towards such improvements, and it is now time that public attention should be directed to the urgent necessity for repairing the delay, and the many reasons for carrying out the project of a new theatre. We therefore give place to another communication from the same source as the former one, and express the hope that our active business men and capitalists will take such action as will provide a commodious building, induce rivalry and competition between the two houses, and thus elevate the dramatic standard, which its best friends must confess has sadly deteriorated in our midst. The suggestions of our correspondent are forcible, and we learn that nearly $20,000 have been conditionally pledged to the scheme.

☞We have the Memphis Evening Argus of Tuesday, a new paper, which contains the particulars of the fire and tornado at that city and also an accident on the Memphis and Charleston Railroad.

The fire originated in the Stevenson Block, and communicated to the large warehouse of J. L. Case & Co; the house of J. M. Costa, used as a store, grate, and tinware dept; the furniture warehouse of Zent & Trabue; the seed and provision store of Frank Smith & Co.; the agricultural implement establishment of David McComb; the wholesale grocery of H. Dow, and the liquor house of H. H. Metze. Messrs. Case & Co. had a large amount of hay in store, and Frank Smith & Co. had also three hundred barrels of flour in the rear of the warehouse, all of which were entirely consumed. J. L. Case & Co.'s loss on stock $9,000, insurance $5,000; Zent & Trabue's loss about $12,000, no insurance. The loss of H. H. Metze is about $8,000, insured for $4,000.

The tornado struck the store of Gayer & Neely and the cotton shed of Webb & Rawling, but did otherwise but little damage.

By the railroad accident, A. T. Rogers, the conductor, was killed.

NEW BETHEL ON WATER STREET.—We have hitherto failed to notice the establishment by the Young Men's Christian Association of a house of worship, intended principally for river men, on Water street, two doors above Bullitt. The room is on the first floor, nicely fitted up with seats, &c. Preaching and other religious services are held every Sabbath evening at 4¾ o'clock, and a Sabbath school under the care of a superintendent and a number of faithful teachers at 2½ o'clock. Rev. G. W. Smiley preaches there to-morrow evening.

RELIGIOUS NOTICE.—We are requested to announce that Rev. G. W. Smiley will preach in the First Congregational Methodist Church (Schon Chapel) and that the Rev. Jas. Mitchell will preach in the Second Congregational Methodist Church (Wolfora Chapel, Hancock street), to-morrow (Sabbath) at 11 o'clock A. M. and at 8 o'clock P. M. The public are invited. Seats free.

☞We are requested to call the special attention of the ladies of Louisville and vicinity to the special sale on Monday morning next at 10 o'clock at the store room of Messrs. N. C. & D. Morse, under the National Hotel, of some 9 of Gilbert's warranted A No. 1 7 octave rosewood pianos. The pianos can be examined at any time before the sale and are well worthy the attention of buyers. As this is the closing sale, buyers would do well to attend.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.—The regular meeting of the Young Man's Christian Association will be held this evening at 8 o'clock. A full attendance of the members is desired, as the proposed amendments to the constitution will be acted upon.

☞Services are not expected in the Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church on Sabbath, owing to the absence of the Rev. G. Gordon.

☞Advices from Port au Prince state that, of the 35 Cuban filibusters who landed at that place from the brig Africa last 16 remained, the balance having left the country. The remaining 16 will probably return to New York in the Africa.

RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS.

The river, during the twenty-four hours ending last evening, had been at a stand with 4 feet 11 inches water in the canal by the mark. There is no improvement at the head of the canal. The accumulation of mud there continues, as the dredgeboats have been employed altogether at the locks. The Fred Tron last evening, in addition to her wheel, had a line on shore and was using her steam capstan to effect an entrance into the canal.

The Ward last night could not get over Portland bar and landed at New Albany.

The St. Louis Republican of yesterday says:

This stream is getting much too big for its banks, and matters on the levee begin to look as though we were threatened with another flood. Many cellars on Front street are already filled with water, and the merchants have taken the precaution to remove their goods above the first floors. The railroad tracks on the other side are in danger of being submerged, and the whole American Bottom inundated. The tributary streams above are full, and are hourly sending vast volumes of water into the Mississippi. The river here was still rising last evening. The Cumberland river was rising on Wednesday evening with 6 feet water on the shoals.

The Tempest Not Sunk.—We are glad to be able to contradict the telegraphic dispatch from New Albany that the steamer Tempest had been sunk, which was published in last evening's Bulletin. The Tempest was aground on the bar, and in spearing over it she careened, her guard was damaged, and about twenty barrels of whisky rolled from her forecastle into the river, which were subsequently recovered. Capt. Hamilton, the agent of the underwriters, was at Portland when the accident happened, and immediately boarded the Tempest and gave all the assistance in his power to Capt. Parr. The T. left New Albany last evening, all right.

Steamer Martha Putnam Raised.—We learn from Capt. Hamilton that Capt. Jewell succeeded last night in raising the Martha Putnam. Her hull is still full of freight. Capt. J. is a deserving gentleman, and he has been untiring in his exertions to raise his boat.

The R. J. Ward.—This magnificent steamer arrived last night. We are indebted to her attentive clerks, Messrs. Smith and Grey, for the usual favors. The Ward was crowded with passengers, but had only a small freight. She brought Mr. Keene Richards's Arabian horses.

The Ward is advertised to leave for New Orleans this evening. Her great reputation and that of her commander, Capt. Silas F. Miller, always secures for her a full compliment of passengers.

The Jacob Strader, on her trip up on Wednesday, got aground on Rising Sun bar. She was still there on Thursday when the Superior came down, which boat has taken her place in the mail line.

The Dan Rice.—Capt. Sturgeon has telegraphed from Memphis that the Dan Rice will arrive to-morrow at noon and will leave for New Orleans on Monday evening.

The Bracelet—This fine Green river packet will leave this evening. She is an excellent boat and well officered. Mr. Edwards is the clerk.

The R. M. Patton, Capt. Bernard, is the packet for Tennessee river to-day.

The Dee Vernon.—This splendid packet will leave for St. Louis to day. It is only necessary to state that she is in command of Capt. J. M. Martin, a universal favorite.

The Dove is the Kentucky river packet this evening. The Emma Dean will leave for Carrollton. The Telegraph No. 3 is the Cincinnati mailboat.

The Memphis and New Orleans Packet Company at a called meeting of their stockholders at Memphis on Tuesday decided on building four new mail steamers to form a tri-weekly line. This in addition to their other boats will make during the cotton season hereafter a daily line. This summer they will run a tri weekly Line.

☞The Opposition in the Sixth Congressional District have nominated the Hon. Green Adams as their candidate, and the selection is one that will inspire the voters of the old Gibraltar district to retrieve their former error in allowing the citadel to be surprised by Locofocoism. He has heretofore served in Congress with great credit, and more recently occupied a judicial position in a manner to add dignity to the position.

☞Mr. Brooks will have a fine supply of strawberries to-day, and enough, he thinks, to accommodate his customers all the day. They are beginning to ripen very rapidly, and new varieties are blushing to the warm kisses of the sun. The location of Mr. Brooks is in Sixth street, under the Exchange Hotel, where he intends to keep the finest fruit depot ever opened in our city during the entire summer. He will have some of his plants in the horticultural exhibition this morning, to which we invite the attention of all who desire to lay out strawberry beds.

☞The Horticultural Society will give an exhibition at the south hall of the Masonic Temple this morning. This is a delightful season of the year for floral displays as well as the produce of the kitchen garden and early fruits and vegetables. Now, that the Society has recommenced their meetings, we hope they will be regularly held, and that everybody who owns a patch of ground will contribute to make them interesting.

☞No letters should be mailed to the following U. S. Naval vessels, as they are all homeward bound: Steam frigates Powhatan, Minnesota, and Mississippi, of the China squadron; corvettes Cumberland and Dale, of the African squadron; and all the Paraguay fleet except Parry, Bainbridge, Dolphin, and Preble.

☞We are requested to state that the Sabbath School exhibition at the East Baptist Church will be continued to night. The singing and rehearsals last night are spoken of in the highest terms, and numbers had to leave the house for want of seats.

☞The Cincinnati Commercial says the largest run ever made on a billiard table, or at least of which there is any record, was made on Thursday by Mr. Phil. Tieman, of that city. He was playing a private game with a gentleman, five hundred points up, Mr. Tieman playing carome and discounting his adversary's game. His antagonist lacked five points of being out and Mr. Tieman 226. He went to work and scored the above on one run, making 119 carems, all of which were counts of the red and white balls. Had he been playing on the two reds, he would have scored 339.

HEAVY FAILURE.—Emery B. Fay, Esq., of Boston, has failed for $300,000. His failure involves the extensive grocery firm of Dexter Fay & Son.—It is the largest failure that has occurred of late in Boston.

☞The two young ladies advertising in another column for situations as teachers are known to us to be highly accomplished and capable. To those who wish refined and cultivated teachers in their families at home, or seminaries or select schools desirous of procuring the services of such, we would earnestly recommend them.

THEATER.—The Martinetti Family close their engagement this evening with a very attractive bill, comprising some of their best pieces and most wonderful feats of dexterity, daring, and strength.

☞A letter from Richmond, Madison county, gives a cheering account of political prospects, and says Green Adams, the Opposition nominee in the Sixth Congressional District, is certain to be elected.

Ben Rice, the Independent Democratic candidate, and T. T. Garrard, the regular Democratic nominee, had a difficulty at Booneville on Monday last, in which Rice was badly wounded, having been twice shot, and a man by the name of Smith was killed. Our correspondent does not give any particulars, but thinks the difficulty will be certain to defeat both the Democratic aspirants.

Since the above we have received the Richmond Messenger, which has the following account of the affray:

It seems that Garrard in a speech reflected severely upon Rice, and his course in becoming a candidate, and Rice in his reply retorted bitterly, giving Mr. Garrard as good as he sent. Garrard replied, stating that Rice's remarks were as false as hell. Rice called him a d—n liar, whereupon Garrard drew a pistol and fired at Rice without touching him. A Mr. Gibson, son-in-law of Mr. Garrard, immediately drew a pistol and fired three or four times, two balls taking effect upon Rice, badly wounding him, and a third upon a man by the name of Smith, who is thought to be mortally wounded, the ball having passed through his neck. Rice's wounds are very severe but are not considered very dangerous. The affair in unfortunate, and where it will end we cannot say.

From farmish anything of a literary nature the public may demand. No article will be furnished for a less sum than five dollars, and all communications, to insure immediate attention, must be accompanied with that sum. CONVICTED.—Cosgrove, the murderer of young Lester at Little Rock some two months ago, was convicted on Saturday last, and sentenced to be hung on the 10th of June proximo. The body of Mr. Lester was was found in the river some five weeks ago. [COMMUNICATED]

A NEW THEATRE.

Some weeks ago an article was written for the Journal, which discussed the propriety and expediency of erecting a new theatre. The late controversy in the papers, between the manager and the company, has not weakened the arguments then used, and has at least opened the eyes of our citizens to a fact hitherto unknown, that the profits made by this establishment go to the benefit of non-residents, and will invariably be carried off to Cincinnati for investment. Without entering into the merits of the case (as between manager and company or inquiring whether the season was a profitable one, or investigating the rights of the manager to reduce his salaries one third, it may be relevant to give the solid reasons for carrying this project through.

By the first of November in all probability the Nashville trains will go through direct, making connections with all the Southern roads, and bringing an immense amount of travel from the other routes. Our city consequently will be thronged with strangers, and some inducement should be offered that might retain them in the city for a few days. The National Race Course is a fixed fact. The Artesian well is with justice regarded as one of the curiosities of the land. Its beautiful properties will soon be widely known, when the extensive bathing rooms are completed, and with a slight effort Louisville may be made the Western Saratoga, and thousands of guests may fill our hotels, and pour riches into our tradesmen's pockets. How can this be effected? Certainly the first step toward it must be to provide a place of amusement, which will afford the attraction necessary for the enjoyment by strangers of our city.

Go to New York at any time, and the countless throng of strangers nightly wends its way to the various places of amusement. Close it, and you would tend more to depopulate the city than anything else short of an epidemic. It is the same in every city of importance, and the strangers constitute, in a great part, the profits of the manager. Many Southerners love the quiet and unpretentious comfort of our city, and, instead of resorting to crowded and fashionable watering places, would prefer to enjoy themselves in Louisville. The Mammoth Cave will shortly be within striking distance of every point, and multitudes will visit it. Without friends and acquaintances among us, they still can spend the time of the early evening here, instead of going directly on, if a nice, genteel establishment and first rate company invite their attendance. With the single exception of Tom Placide's company, which in six weeks cleared over $5,000, there never has been a respectable company in point of numbers or talent in this city. In addition to the people who will be thus induced to remain over for a day or two, or make their residence here for the summer, the two meetings of the National Race Course in the spring and fall will, if we have a theatre, attract a large attendance, and it is our bounden duty, when asking these persons to come, that proper amusements should be provided to induce their attendance another year. The erection of such a building as is proposed will most certainly pay good dividends, and it can in fact be so built, as, by the rent of portions of it, almost to pay a good interest on the investment.

The shares can be placed at $500 each, which will entitle the stockholder to a free admission in addition to his dividends, and complete control of the establishment can be confided to a board of directors. The present unsightly and uncomfortable establishment is rented at the rate of $4000 per annum, and a fair estimate of the operation of say the most competent and responsible managers would eagerly seek for the new one at $5000. The total cost would not exceed $35,000.

Any person who chooses to take two or more shares would have the privilege of introducing any resident for the season, or could rightly introduce any friend from abroad upon the extra share. Already several gentlemen have expressed their willingness to subscribe $1,000 each, and doubtless $20,000 could be raised in one week. It is said that Mr. Placide is very anxious that such a theater should be established in order that he might give our citizens the benefit of his splendid company during the summer, and thereby keep them together. We should think have both a summer and a winter season—a constant change, which would keep up our interest, and would most certainly add greatly to the city's prosperity. It is to be hoped that some of our enterprising citizens will take this in our citizens hand, and put it through without longer delay.

GOLDEN SILVER.—The great increase in the annual production of gold, and the large supply of silver sent by India, are beginning to alter the relation between the stocks of the two metals in such a degree as to disturb seriously all theories. We have before noticed a brave attack by Richard Cobden of a work by Chevalier on the Precious Metals recently published. In this work, which has attracted comment here and abroad, only the probable effect of the change in the relation of the two metals is given. There are no statistics by which individual opinion may be formed, or the author's theory verified. Yet the subject is of vast importance, affecting, as it does, the two standards by which all property is valued, and one of which has always been, and will be coupled with that from the different authorities, including Jacob on the Precious Metals, Humboldt's statement of the production of silver in Mexico, Tooke's History of Prices, and the official statements of the production of gold since 1848, the exact stocks and relative changes of the two metals at different periods. Those who wish to try the statements and to do so from the above-named authorities, can get the cost of no little labor.

While the two metals are the money of the world, they must bear a certain relation of value, and since the relation of value is dependent upon the relative stocks of the two metals, it follows that with fluctuations in the stocks of the two metals, there must be corresponding fluctuations in the relative value or one of the metals must be wholly or partially abandoned as money. We propose to give a brief basis for the effects from such changing values of the two metals, and comment on the probable effect in the future.

The stocks of gold and silver in Europe in 1848, at which time the change following from the great action of the silver mines of America may be dated, were as follows:

	Stock.	Ratio.
Gold	$600,000,000	20 per cent.
Silver	2,400,000,000	80

From 1492 to 1848 there were many changes in the yearly production of gold and silver. Until the year 1595 but little gold or silver came from America. In 1803 the first heavy silver mine of Potosi was first worked, and in 1807 the quicksilver mine at Huancavelica, by the aid of which the yield of metal from the same ore was increased from 1 to 8%. This improvement from the former slow process of amalgamation by the heap was not known in 1803 the stocks of gold and silver were

	Stock.	Ratio.
Gold	$1,770,000,000	30 per cent.
Silver	3,100,000,000	65

It should be noted that the absolute production of silver increased in this period from 1492 to 1803, 50 per cent. than that of gold, although the relative production was decreased.

In 1848, the year of the new gold era, the stocks of the two metals were as follows:

	Stock.	Ratio.
Gold	$2,800,000,000	41 per cent.
Silver	4,000,000,000	59

It will be noticed that in the period from 1803 to 1848 the increase in the stocks of gold was greater than the increase in that of silver. This does not prove the greater productive increase in the production of gold, but may be ascribed two to causes—first, the practice of hoarding in India, and secondly, to the fact that the gold has not been used for war, manufactures, &c., a hour times as great as the correspondent silver has been.

We find that, after making the necessary allowances for gold sent to India, and the loss by fire, &c., and allowing the relative production of California and Australia, the stocks of gold in 1858 were

	Stock.	Ratio.
Gold	$3,670,000,000	47 per cent.
Silver	4,100,000,000	53

If now we take the different periods, and extend the rate of change in the stocks of the two metals, according to the present rate of production, we shall have the basis for a revolution which is going on. We can nicely take the present rates of production as not being too large for the probable future production of gold in comparison with that of silver, for with the frequent discoveries of gold on both shores of the Rocky Mountains and in Australia, the probabilities are that the production of gold will increase more rapidly than that of silver.

The per centages of the stocks of gold and silver at the different periods up to 1858, and at the present rates of production for the periods up to 1900 are as follows:

In	Gold.	Silver.	Ratio.
			20 per cent.
1803			30
1848			41
1858			47
1881			50
1882			53

We see from this exhibit that in 1867 the stocks of the two metals will be equal, and that in 1900 there will be a reverse order from 1803. Let us look at the effect of these changes in the past and consider the probable future effect.

The first and greatest effect, as we mentioned before, must be either by abandoning one metal as a standard or by altering the relation of value. Both of these have by measure actually taken place. Silver has, except in a few cases, been practically given up in the Western World, and gold never has had currency in the Eastern. The Orient and the Occident have each chosen their standard. Again the value of silver is steadily appreciating, while that of gold, compared either with silver or by prices, is steadily depreciating.

It is estimated that the annual production of silver for the next thirty to sixty five millions of dollars. The loss by wear and use in the arts cannot be less than twenty-five millions of dollars annually. We have, therefore, forty millions dollars as the minimum limit of the accession to the stock of silver money. It has, however, been ascertained that through the channels there was sent from Europe and last year sixty millions of dollars in silver, to India alone. It is known, too, that large amounts of silver are made from this country and the Pacific coast to China, and from thence to India. These facts are conclusive arguments that they have been so great and so constant and with no ebb, that they have earned for India the name of the "cesspool of silver." The total amount of silver to come money in this drain is certainly not less than eighty mill lions of dollars annually. This forty millions more than the net production. The absorption of the total stock, if this is continued, is therefore only a question of time. On the other hand, the annual production of gold is now fully two hundred millions of dollars, and the west is only one-fourth that of silver, and the way in the arts and trades is greater. The final substitution of gold for silver is therefore an inevitable result.

Three-forth gold must be the money of commerce. The old relation of gold and silver or of sixteen to one can only be retained by the disuse of silver as money, and this seems to be the plan adopted. At the time Holland is the only commercial country which refuses to abandon the money of the East; all of the others have practically, from necessity, adopted gold as the one standard, and should, by any justice to all, make it the change legal. The relation of money and prices should be as nearly immutable as possible, and we should not forget that to insure this the stock of metallic money should increase correspondingly with the increase in commerce, population, etc., of the world. The practicability of this is to a great degree insured by having two standards, and it may be questioned if it does not make it impossible. Of the two metals, gold alone can keep pace in its production with the growth of the world, and again to do justice to the two great classes, debtors and creditors, only one standard should be allowed—reducing thereby the fluctuations to a minimum both in extent and frequency. Gold, from these reasons, must hereafter become the standard of the commercial world.

SIXTH CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.—The Opposition convention of the Sixth Congressional District met at Manchester on the 13th inst. All the counties in the district were represented. Colonel Reuben May, of Clay, presided, assisted by M. J. Cook, of Rockcastle, as vice president, and Thomas F. Stone, of Madison, and J. D. Cooly, of Floyd, were the secretaries.

H. C. Lilly, Esq., reported the following resolutions, which were adopted:

Resolved, That we approve of the sentiments embodied in the address adopted by the Opposition convention held in the city of Louisville on the 22d of February, 1859.

Resolved, That we heartily approve of the nominees of said convention and will give them our cordial and undivided support.

Resolved, That the resolutions adopted by the Louisville convention, recommending the soldiers of the war of 1812 to the favorable consideration of the general government, were dictated by a sense of justice to brave and gallant men, and the just and long neglected tributes to their toils and struggles should no longer be postponed.

Hon. Green Adams was then unanimously nominated as the Opposition candidate for Congress.

Judge Adams in response to a call made a short but forcible speech accepting the nomination, expressing his perfect confidence in the success of the combination of the canvass, upon which he pledged himself soon to enter and prosecute with vigor and energy, and urged the party throughout the district to unite with him in the effort to redeem the district.

Messrs. Embry, Breck, Sawyers, Hazlewood, Cooly, Lilly, &c., being called on, expressed themselves ably and eloquently upon the political issues of the day.

☞The New York Post corrects an error into which the press generally has fallen in reference to Gen. Baraguay D'Hilliers, who commands one of the French divisions in the war with Sardinia. He is the son of the officer of the same name who served under the first Napoleon, and has been dead nearly fifty years.

The Rescuers—Writs of Habeas Corpus Granted.—Application has been made to Judge Scott, of the Supreme Court, for writs of habeas corpus in behalf of Bushnell and Langston, who were last week sentenced at Cleveland, to fine and imprisonment for participation in the rescue of a fugitive slave at Wellington. All the writs, four in number, prayed that the prisoners are to be brought before the Supreme Court of Ohio on Wednesday, the 25th inst. A hearing will then be had, the cases presented being in every point similar to that upon which the Wisconsin Court acted in liberating Booth, and in regard to which the United States Supreme Court has recently fulminated a counter decree. The question is likely to prove an exciting, if not a very troublesome one, before it is finally disposed of, and will, of course, attract very general attention.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

MACDONALD'S IMPROVED GALVANIZED IRON REFRIGERATOR, on practical and scientific principles—the best and most convenient article in use for cooling and preserving meats, milk, butter, fruit, wines, etc. They are so arranged that the ice-water runs slowly through each shelf, and, being confined from the effects of the hot air, keeps them at the coldest point, causing the refrigerating influence to be the same throughout the whole apparatus. This is effected by the drippings from the ice, which is lost in all other refrigerators. They are open on the front and top—make a neat piece of furniture—can be placed in any room, and have a water jar, by which perfectly cold water can at all times be had without additional ice. These refrigerators are no experiment. They have been in successful operation for upward of ten years, to the gratification of those who have them in use, as their certificates will show, and are now the most approved before the public. The improvements recently added, by which the most perfect ventilation is insured, a great saving of ice has been obtained, more frigid air produced, and durability effected, certainly place them far in advance of anything ever offered for public patronage. Galvanized iron has been substituted for the sheeting in lieu of zinc, thereby enabling us to offer them in an article entirely free from oxydization and corrosion, and consequently void of that disagreeable odor which has heretofore been most objectionable in other refrigerators. In addition to their being so vastly superior to others, owing to their convenient arrangements and unequalled principle, they are more serviceable, as it is now conceded that galvanized iron is more durable than any other metal, as it is not affected by acid, salt water, etc. For sale by

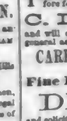
READ THIS!

NEW ORLEANS MEDICAL NOTICE.



DR. LEROY'S MIXTURE FOR THE PROMPT AND PERMANENT CURE OF ALL BETHRAL DISEASES AND THOSE AFFECTIONS SOLELY—TO THE PUBLIC.—Overwhelming proof of the truly extraordinary curative practice in New Orleans has fully tested its great superiority over all other remedies which physicians and the public generally have against an advertised medicine by its invariable success in all Urethral Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Strictures, Chronic Inflammation of the Neck of the Bladder and Urethra, Ulceration of the Kidneys, Gravel, Diseases of the Prostate Gland, Whites, &c.

It would be well in obstinate cases of Gonorrhea and Gleet to be in connection with the Mixture our CAMPHORATED BELLADONNA INJECTION. Price $5 per bottle.

TAKE NOTICE.—As in all uncomplicated cases ONE BOTTLE of DR. LEROY'S MIXTURE is sufficient to effect a permanent cure, in from three to eight days, assisted, if necessary, by a vial of the Belladonna Injection, the cost of getting which is saved to the patient in the item of diseases unskilly treating.

This Mixture is not an empirical remedy, a "cure all," but is compounded by a physician and prescribed solely for Urethral Affections.

It is entirely vegetable, not nauseous, and can be used with perfect safety, confidence, and ease, as it does not affect the breath, requires but little change in diet, and no restriction from business, which has rendered it very popular both with the public and medical men.

Persons afflicted are strongly recommended to give it a trial, when its prompt effect will convince them of its efficacy.

PRICE PER BOTTLE $2.

CAUTION.—Recollect the genuine LeRoy's liquid, Every French bottle has the written signature of LeRoy, M. D., Paris, on it, and every English label has the fac simile signature of

DR. L. C. THOMPSON & CO., Sole Proprietors,
Southern Medical Infirmary, New Orleans.
